New Group Management Structure and Executive Officer Appointments

Sompo Holdings, Inc. (the “Company”) announces its formation from April 1, 2025 of two business segments, Sompo P&C (property and casualty) and Sompo Wellbeing, together with the appointment of Business CEOs to oversee each business segment to accelerate the realization of the Company’s vision.

The Company also announced Executive Officer appointments, outlined below.

1. New Group Management Structure (Appointment of Business CEOs)

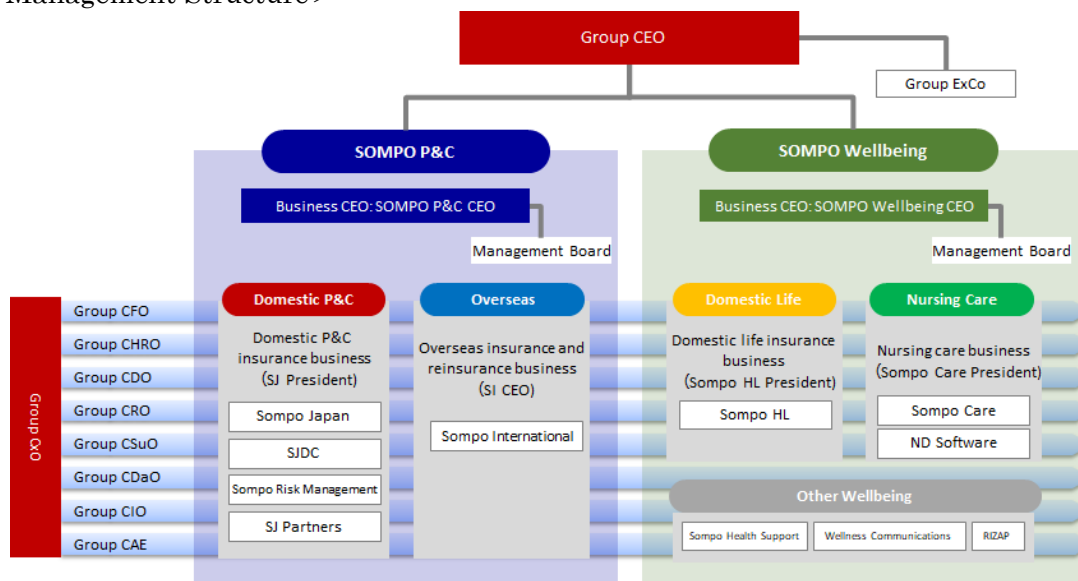

In May 2024, in pursuit of the sustainable enhancement of enterprise value, the Company announced its current Mid-Term Management Plan (FY2024-2026). It rephrased SOMPO’s Purpose as being “For a future of health, wellbeing and financial protection”, and set as the goals of the Mid-Term Management Plan to "Increase Resilience” and to "Connect and be Connected” .

The Business CEOs overseeing Sompo P&C and Sompo Wellbeing will be newly appointed. A Management Board will be established for each of the two business segments as an advisory body to the Business CEO to accelerate these initiatives. The Company will speed up decision-making by delegating a certain degree of authority from the Group CEO to the Business CEOs and promote groupwide initiatives through the business segment Management Boards

James Shea (currently CEO of Overseas Insurance and Reinsurance Business) and Yasuhiro Oba (currently CEO of Domestic Life Insurance Business) will be appointed SOMPO P&C CEO and SOMPO Wellbeing CEO, respectively, effective April 1, 2025.

While leveraging the strengths that the Sompo Group has cultivated over the years, the Company strives to become a Japan-born truly global company. It will do so by pursuing ‘Centers of Excellence,’ built on enabling the Group's executives and employees to learn best practices from each other, and expanding their opportunities for growth alongside colleagues around the world, regardless of business line, gender, disability, nationality, age, or other criteria.

2. Messages from the Group CEO and Business CEOs

(1) Group CEO: Mikio Okumura

“We are implementing strategies to “Increase Resilience” and to “Connect and be Connected” for sustainable growth, by viewing changes in the business environment as opportunities.

“To accelerate these initiatives, we will consolidate our businesses into the “Sompo P&C” and “Sompo Wellbeing” business segments, and strengthen coordination across our lines of businesses and geographies from FY2025. We will also lever these efforts to share the knowledge and experience of our group executives and employees between each other to further develop our expertise to deliver solutions that fulfill our customers’ changing needs.

“I will deliver this further growth by ensuring the executives and employees of Sompo Group work together to strive ‘For a future of health, wellbeing and financial protection.’”

(2) SOMPO P&C CEO: James Shea

“This structural reform will enable us to withstand economic changes, continue to simplify, foster deeper connections and harmony across geographical divides, provide new development opportunities for our people, and create the best place to work in our industry.

“It is also part of our ongoing evolution to offer the best solutions to our customers and deliver profitable results to our shareholders at the same time. I’m looking forward to maximizing the potential of our organization as a global community, driving innovation to achieve both our purpose and our strategic objectives more effectively.”

(3) SOMPO Wellbeing CEO: Yasuhiro Oba

“Sompo Wellbeing provides solutions for ‘health’, ‘nursing care’ and ‘finance after retirement’ concerns by connecting Sompo Himawari Life Insurance's Insurhealth®, Sompo Care's nursing care services, and other healthcare-related activity to realize Sompo’s Purpose: ‘For a future of health, wellbeing and financial protection.’ In addition to insurance coverage, we will also provide services for ‘ease of mind’ across the boundaries of our operating companies, thereby staying close to the daily lives of our customers.”
